

NEWARK BOARD OF TRADE STORM DON'T LIKE MR. BOWEN

Social Session Tuesday Night a Big Success

Plans to Increase Membership of this Organization

FINE SPEECHES DELIVERED BY NEWARK MEN

Showing the Importance of Board of Trade's Work and the Necessity of a Strong Organization-- Large Attendance in Spite of Rain.

In spite of the heavy downpour of rain which continued throughout the entire evening, Tuesday night's Board of Trade "social session" at Brennan's Hall was a complete and gratifying success.

The inclement weather kept a surprisingly small number of those who had signified their intention to be present, at home. Of the 275 men who had accepted the invitation over 200 were present to enjoy the evening's informal program.

The object of the meeting was twofold. First, to get the men who had been of assistance to the Board of Trade together for the purpose of strengthening the organization of the Board and second, to hold a jollification over the success that attended the effort to secure the Wehrle-Thomas plans.

The first part of the evening was spent in talking over what had been done and what could be done for the city. After the discussion of a splendid lunch prepared under the direction of Colonel William C. Wells, President F. M. Black called the meeting to order and called upon several gentlemen to speak, after having first spoken of the Wehrle deal.

Mr. Black said that a report had been circulated to the effect that Wm. W. Wehrle would have built the proposed new foundry even if the two hundred lots had not been sold by the Board of Trade. Mr. Black stated that it was true as announced at the time the work was undertaken, that Mr. Wehrle would have increased the capacity of his foundry and would, perhaps have added a force of 150 to 200 men whether or not the lots were sold, but he stated emphatically, and in doing so, quoted Mr. Wehrle, whose word is the synonym of honor, that if the lot sale had not been accomplished the big proposition as it now stands would not have been carried out. Without the lot sale the plant would have been enlarged so as to accommodate perhaps 700 to 750 men, but through the lot sale Newark is assured that the company will employ 1250 men and has the $100,000 Thomas mill thrown in thus giving employment to about 200 more men. The President said that Mr. Van Voorhis, the trustee, had told him that it has been a pleasure to act as trustee in the Wehrle-Thomas deal, that the people were interested and had readily and freely paid for the lots purchased, a large percentage of the buyers having already paid in full for their lots. Mr. Black said it had been easier to sell $60,000 worth of lots to secure the Wehrle and Thomas plants than it had been to secure $2000 cash subscriptions for the paper mill project. After referring to other features of the recent work, Mr. Black called upon Hon. Edward Kibler, assigning him the subject: "The Board of Trade, Its Purposes and Aims."

Mr. Kibler introduced his address with a few happy remarks and then briefly recited the history of the Board of Trade of Newark. The charter was granted December 8, 1899, to Wm. H. Smith, S. P. Van Voorhis, F. M. Black, F. A. Crane, W. C. Wells, Walter Scott, Wm. E. Miller, C. H. Spencer, George B. Sprague and Wm. H. Parrish. The charter gives as the object of the Board of Trade the "furtherance of the business and industrial interests of the city of Newark." Mr. Kibler said that the men who organized the Board of Trade have something to be proud of. They had something to do with the coming of the Jewett Car Works which is now employing over 350 men, they point with pride to the Heisey Glass Plant, which employs 200 men, they had something to do with locating the Pratt & Montgomery mill which works a large force of men, they brought the Ruggs Halter Factory to town with its 100 employees, they had something to do with the extension of the Edw. H. Everett glass factory whose force was increased several hundred men, but the last and greatest triumph of all is the Wehrle and Thomas enterprise. Some of the factories were secured by the sale of lots, others by personal contributions. The Board of Trade has obtained industries of stability and permanency. It has already increased the population of the city 3000 or 4000 and add 3000 to that for the Wehrle addition and we have something that we should congratulate the Board of Trade for. Mr. Kibler argued for a stronger organization to back up the men who are pushing forward for Newark's growth and welfare.

President Black called attention to the fact that those present had just listened to one who had always lived in the city, but that the following speaker would be a man who had not always been a Newark man, and that he would give his impressions of the city from a newcomer's viewpoint.

Mr. Black then introduced the Rev. J. C. Schindel, who stated that he considered it an honor to address so representative an audience of citizens. His first impression upon coming to Newark was concerning its admirable location in the center of the state on two trunk lines with a third just outside the city limits. Newark has better railroad facilities and connections than any other city in the state of its size. By actual statistics 28 per cent more trains run into Newark than into any other city in the state in comparison to the population. The city is beautifully located. There are fewer loafers and idle men in Newark than found elsewhere. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the high standard of the goods found in the stores of the city. Speaking from actual experience obtained in other cities in the state, the stores of this city are the best he found. It is not necessary to go out of the city to make purchases. A stranger he said, was impressed by the great diversity of products that are made and sold in Newark.

We can marry our sons and daughters here. We deal in mud, and can build them a brick house. We can furnish the house. We can loan him money if he needs it. We can make his bottles for him and he can get them filled at the institution around the corner.

There is a smaller percentage of arrests for actual crimes in Newark than in any city of its size in the state. This statement was made from a careful compilation of criminal statistics. This is owing to the excellent school system, which is ahead of the times in the employment of advanced methods of teaching. As to newspapers, Newark stands at the very head of the list. The local press is far in advance of the other press of the state. The local papers do not print sensational matter that should not be printed. Newark, therefore, is a good place to live in and has a great future. He said that the men who organized the have it in your hands to make it what we all hope to see.

President Black introduced Hon. Carl Norpell as the man who had sold more Wehrle lots singlehanded than any other man in the city. Mr. Norpell said that great progress had been made in the past and judging the future by the past the city has bright prospects indeed. The people of the city are under obligations to President Black and to the Association for the success attained.

New York has its John Pierpont Morgan, but Newark has its Fred M. Black; New York has its John Jacob Astor, but we have our E. W. Crayton; New York has its Rockefeller, we have our Weiant; New York had its P. T. Barnum, we have our George Walter Scott.

Mr. Norpell spoke of the good work that had been done for Newark by the Board of Trade and argued for a better support of the organization. He favored a larger membership and a stronger organization to back up the Board of Directors in the work that is yet to be done.

Julius Kremer was introduced as a business man of the city. Mr. Kremer agreed with Rev. Mr. Schindel in regard to the high qualities of the goods made here. Mr. Kremer is in favor of the construction of viaducts under the railroad crossings of First and Second streets and believed that, as under the law the railroad companies must bear half of the expense, the Board of Trade should agitate the matter. It will cost more to construct the viaducts after the city grows more.

President Black stated that heretofore the Board of Trade had consisted of a very few active members. This is not as it should be. The Board of Trade found it easier to sell $60,000 worth of lots than to raise $2000 for the paper mill fund. This was because the people acted in unison in the lot sale.

Walter Scott moved that steps be taken to effect permanent organization.

J. M. Maylone suggested that the Board of Trade be reorganized with a membership of 300 and annual dues of $5.00.

Edward Kibler expressed himself as being in favor of the annual dues being $2. On suggestion of O. C. Jones Mr. Kibler raised the amount to $3. It was put to a vote and the motion to make the dues $3 was lost and the original motion to make the annual dues $5 was declared carried.

William H. Smith the lumberman, made a strong speech in favor of the $5 membership fee and A. R. Maylone spoke with good effect along the same line.

Upon motion a five minute recess was taken to enable those who desired to identify themselves with the Board of Trade for the year 1903. In the limited time given 70 members were secured and the following committee was appointed to secure additional names, it being the desire of those interested to have a membership of 300 men, thus putting $1500 in the treasury to be used for the good of the cause. The membership committee is as follows: Wm. H. Smith, W. S. Weiant, A. N. Banton, A. C. Dickinson, E. T. Rugg, L. H. Inscho, F. A. Crane, C. W. Miller and J. S. Dudley.

Upon motion Thursday night, February 12 was fixed as the time and the city hall as the place for holding the annual election of directors.

Upon motion of Mr. H. J. Hoover only those who have by that time paid their fee of $5 to the treasurer, C. H. Spencer, will be entitled to participate in the election of directors.

It is the intention to put the Board of Trade on a better basis than it has been the past year by increasing the membership and by putting some money in the treasury for use in the Board of Trade work.

Those who subscribed $5 each Tuesday night for a 1903 membership are as follows:

A. F. Crayton
J. M. Maylone
W. H. Chilcote
H. J. Hoover
A. J. Baldwin
Edward Kibler

Raging All Over the West

Stock Perishing and Roads are Stalled.

CHICAGO COMPLETELY CUT OFF BY STORM.

ALL THE WIRES ARE NOW DOWN

No News Has Come Out of the City in Past Twelve Hours.—No Signs of Abating.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 4.—A blizzard which is central in this state is raging all over the northwest. Wires are down, stock is perishing and railways are stalled. The storm began yesterday and shows no sign of abating today.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 4.—Chicago is completely cut off from outside communication by storm. Wires are down in all directions and no news has come out of the city for twelve hours.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 4.—A cyclone swept over Dallas county late last evening, damaging the little town of Seagoville. A school building and several dwellings were demolished. Four inmates in the home of J. H. Young Blood were caught beneath the wreckage and badly hurt. No lives are reported lost but the damage throughout the path of the storm will be heavy.

MORPHINE FIEND

REMOVED BULLET FROM THE CARTRIDGE

Before Firing the Pistol—Shot Caused Excitement in Reichstag This Afternoon.

Berlin, Feb. 4.—Socialist Deputy Agster, who is known to be a morphine fiend, caused a sensation in the lobby of the Reichstag this afternoon by shooting himself. A number of deputies rushed to the aid of the supposed dying man and several doctors were hurriedly summoned. In the midst of the excitement a man who was examining Agster closely, discovered that the latter had removed the ball from the cartridge before firing and had accordingly sustained no wound more serious than a slight scorching.

Miners Organize.

Williamson, W. Va., Feb. 4.—J. W. Davis of Springfield, Ills., and W. P. Weber of Danville, Ills., representatives of the United Mine Workers, arrived in Williamson Monday and established headquarters here for the purpose of organizing the entire coal fields in this vicinity. The miners of the two mines at Dingess, which have previously been non-union, were almost all taken into the union Tuesday.

BURGLAR

POSED AS AN ENGLISH LORD IN UNITED STATES

And Married Three American Girls After Telling Them Pretty Fairy Stories.

New York, Feb. 4.—In England the roving, but not the robbing, son of a Brighton By driven from a comfortable, burglar and convicted in American "Sir Frederick Synedham Burgoyne," bearer of a false title as the vaunted scion of Lord Burgoyne, and in reality the bigamous husband of three American women.

Such is the dual pedigree of the accomplished swindler, who under the name of Lieutenant Colonel Barrington, was sentenced to six months in the workhouse at St. Louis yesterday. Twice within two months he has married young women of good family and has deserted them, after having successfully imposed upon them by his polished suavity.

In Brooklyn the woman believed to be his lawful wife is supporting herself and his 12 year old daughter.

In Philadelphia a charming young girl found herself deserted in a strange city during her wedding tour, and her supposed soldier hero even decamped with her trossseau.

In St. Louis his latest bride only realized her misfortune when her brother after a quiet investigation kicked "Lord Barrington" out and caused his arrest.

Barrington's career would seem a marvelous one even in the records of criminal romance. It was completely exposed last night when an officer here recognized a photograph of the St. Louis prisoner.

Wm. Kunley sues the Delaware, O., Natural Gas company for $2,500 as the result of an explosion which wrecked his home. Kunley's home was not piped for gas but the gas followed a water pipe from the street.

ANXIETY

FELT OVER THE CONDITION OF KING EDWARD

In Spite of the Encouraging Reports— Edward is Suffering from Influenza.

London, Feb. 4.—King Edward's condition today according to affirmation received in court circles, is about the same. Sir Francis Laking, his majesty's physician, is in close attendance on the royal patient, as the fear of complications which often follow an attack of influenza has not yet been banished. The anxiety felt by the public has not been lessened by the official reports regarding the king's illness.

ANTI-TRUST LAW.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Within three days it is expected that the entire anti-trust program recommended by the President and Attorney General will have been enacted into a law. It includes the publicity of details of business of corporations, the prohibition of granting rebates or other favors by carriers, in order to gain the business of large shippers, and the adoption of legislation which will enable the attorney general to expedite through the courts cases brought against corporations for violations of the anti-trust laws.

RELIEF CORPS

OPPOSES PUTTING STATUE OF ROBERT E. LEE

In the National Capitol an Gives the Reasons—Will Aid the War's Survivors.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The Women's Relief Corps, department of the Postmaster, at its fourteenth annual convention held here last night denounced in most emphatic terms the plan of the Virginia Legislature to place a statue of General Robert E. Lee in the national capitol. After reciting that General Lee was a traitor to his country and deliberately plunged the United States into a war that cost seven billion dollars and a million lives, the resolutions pledge the relief corps to render all needed aid to the survivors of the great war and their dependents, no matter whether they were blue or gray.

Powers Want to Eliminate Him in Negotiations

Capital City of Venezuela is Destined to Fall

THE REBELS ARE MOVING ON CARACAS

President Roosevelt and Cabinet Are Still Hopeful That a Peaceful Solution Will be Reached-- Contracts for New Cruisers.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Minister Bowen has been so successful in putting the allies on the defensive that an effort will now be made to eliminate him from the negotiations if possible. The Tagblatt today says: "It is becoming more and more evident that the Powers could have found no more unwelcome agent for Venezuela than Minister Bowen. He is seeing to Castro's interests in a way which shows that Yankees are entirely disregarding the rights of the Powers."

Caracas, Venezuela, Feb. 4.—An army of revolutionaries is now almost at the gates of Caracas. Everywhere in the city preparations are being made to repel an attack. Trenches are being dug and citizens are being drafted into the military ranks. Animals are being seized for the Government service.

After a general investigation the opinion is that the land blockade is completed and if the cordon is maintained the capital which is nearly without provisions, must fall.

President Castro is as cool as the proverbial cucumber and is displaying a tireless energy. He is on horseback day and night directing the defensive operations.

Despite the dark outlook many persons believe that the one man power in the Government which President Castro certainly holds, and the loyalty of the Indian battalions will triumph over the divided revolutionary leadership and the unsoldierly crowds of the insurrection.

The Matos revolution has at last reached a point where some decisive action must take place within a very few days.

Bulletins of victory and defeat are now being circulated at Caracas as a result of fighting just south of the capital. These bulletins are not trustworthy. The significant feature is that defensive measures are being pushed.

REBELS DEFEATED

And the Victory at Once Caused the Price of Stocks to Rise.

Caracas, Feb. 4.—The Government troops under General Alcantara, a graduate from West Point, have defeated a force of rebels numbering 500 under the revolutionary General Ducharme, on the Camatagua river about 50 miles south of Caracas. The rebels were routed, their ammunition and 200 prisoners were captured.

On the receipt of the news of the victory prices on the Stock Exchange here jumped four points.

Since the rout of General Matos and his army of 10,000 men by President Castro near La Victoria, October 18, the remnants of the rebel forces have been dispersed in all directions. These scattered bodies of rebels, believing that arms and ammunition had been landed, lately reunited and to the number of about 2,000 under General Rolando and Ducharme assembled at Altamirac, at the entrance to the Gulf of Maracaibo, and at Orinoco, a village 10 miles south of Caracas.

General Ducharme with 500 men advanced up the Camatagua river. President Castro sent a force of 1,000 troops against him under General Alcantara, who took the rebels by surprise and routed them after a seven hours' fight. Alcantara captured 50 officers and 200 soldiers, 40,000 rounds, all the rebels' reserve ammunition and 50 animals. The balance of Ducharme's army fled in the direction of Orinoco.

STILL HOPEFUL

Is the Cabinet of a Peaceful Solution. New Armored Cruisers.

Washington, D. C. Feb. 4.—President Roosevelt and all the members of his Cabinet were in session for an hour and a half, at least two subjects of importance occupying their attention. The Venezuelan question was under consideration for some time, but at the conclusion of the meeting no member of the Cabinet would discuss, for publication, this phase of the meeting. It can be said that this Government, while deeply interested in the pending negotiations, has taken no part in the controversy. Both the President and his Cabinet are entirely hopeful of an early adjustment of the difficulty, although it is realized fully that serious obstacles remain yet to be overcome.

Again the Cabinet discussed the award of bids recently received for the armored cruisers Tennessee and Washington. A decision was reached and at the conclusion of the meeting Secretary Moody made public the following statement:

"The navy department has decided upon the award of contracts for the two 14,500 ton armored cruisers, Tennessee and Washington. The bid of William Cramp & Sons, of Philadelphia, Penn., for two vessels at $1,035,000, has been accepted for one vessel, with the stipulation offered that the plans of the Government shall be followed. In view of the fact that the New York Ship-building company of Camden, N. J., one of the best equipped shipyards in the world, is the only large shipyard in the United States not now accustomed to naval work, and as this company was the lowest bidder for two ships on the Government's plans, the second vessel has been awarded to it at the same price of $4,035,000. The only bid received from the Pacific Coast was $4,365,000, which was not within 4 per cent increase over the lowest accepted bid allowed by law for vessels built on that coast. These awards are approved by the President, as required by law.

Mr. Bowen's decisive note rejecting the divisional scheme proposed by the British Ambassador led to numerous conferences today. The representatives of the allies called this note in answer to their respective capitals.

Baron Sternburg was an early caller at Mr. Bowen's hotel and an hour later was joined in Mr. Bowen's rooms by the British Ambassador. They spent half an hour in joint conference with Venezuela's representative, the British ambassador leaving first. Attempts to reach a compromise have been by no means abandoned.

It appears that the issue is now between a reference of the case to The Hague tribunal for adjudication of the single point of preferential claims and the framing of a compromise agreement in Washington which shall prevail for a full settlement of all the Venezuelan claims. It is known that Baron Sternburg, representing Germany, is currently desirous of avoiding recourse to The Hague, and wishes to reach a speedy settlement in Washington by direct arrangement between Mr. Bowen and himself.

The point has been made that a mere desire on the part of Venezuela's

MADE TO STAND PULLING.

The Great Tensile Strength of the Government's Paper Money.

"The way some cashiers pay out small bills in exchange for large ones must make other men as tired as it wears me," remarked an observing business man to another Washingtonian as they watched the cashier of a fashionable uptown cafe pull at and strip the ones and twos in exchange for a ten as though he were pulling a piece of molasses candy over a hook and hated to let go.

"It does," acquiesced his friend, who happened to be a United States treasury expert. "The way some cashiers jerk, snap and pull at bills as they pay them out is utterly absurd. The old adage about pinching a silver dollar until the eagle screams pales before the way the up to date flip cashier jerks the long green leaf handles."

"In this connection I will give you a fact that is not generally known, and that is the weight a new treasury single note, and four notes in a sheet, will sustain without breaking. The figures may be accepted as official and accurate."

"A single treasury note measures 3 1/2 inches wide by 7 1/2 inches long and will suspend 41 pounds lengthwise and 91 pounds crosswise. Notes are printed four to a sheet. A sheet will suspend 108 pounds lengthwise and 177 pounds crosswise."

"The remarkable strength of a United States treasury note may thus be seen at a glance, and I venture to say that not one person in a million would have guessed the great tenacity of the paper which, when properly printed and stamped, becomes good money."

The cashier had interestingly listened to the treasury expert's explanation of the weight sustaining and necessarily resisting power of wear and tear of our paper money, and then he said:

"You see, it is this way: Bills stick together, see, and we cashiers have to make up any shortage out of our own pockets, and that's one reason why we snap and jerk the bills so hard, so we will not pay out two for one, as might be done. Again, a two dollar bill is frequently mistaken for a five, and vice versa, and by counting out our money as if it were drops of our lifeblood we are less liable to pass out one for the other."—Washington Star.

CRATERS ON THE MOON.

Professor Pickering Finds Reason to Doubt Accepted Figures.

William Henry Pickering, assistant professor of astronomy at Harvard, has made a discovery interesting to astronomers, says a Boston special to the New York Times. Dr. Franz, the German astronomer, published two years ago an exhaustive treatise on "The Mountains and Craters of the Moon." In this work the latitude and longitude of each mountain and crater were carefully worked out, and since that time his book has been used in all the observatories of the world as the standard.

Professor Pickering has been at work recently on a new atlas of the moon and discovered in the course of his researches that no account has been taken heretofore of the altitude of the craters. He has discovered that the latitudinal and longitudinal measurements of each are greatly affected by the height.

PROTESTATIONS THAT DO NOT EXPLAIN.

No sooner does Baron Speck Von Sternburg set foot upon our shores than he hastens to announce with emphasis that it is "absolutely false" that "the German emperor has ulterior designs and motives in Venezuela."

The baron states two reasons why the emperor has no ulterior motives: First, "his admiration for President Roosevelt and America and things American," and, second, "he approves fully of the Monroe doctrine and would not think of acting contrary to it in Venezuela or of trying to obtain even a trading station there."

He adds that the emperor would no more think of antagonizing the Monroe doctrine "than he would think of colonizing the moon."

All this looks too much like mere repetition to be entirely convincing. It is much like saying that the emperor has no ulterior designs or motives in Venezuela because he has not ulterior designs or motives in Venezuela.

On the other hand his representative can hardly blame us if we wonder why he attempts to assign reasons which are not reasons at all but mere repetitions. When reasons in the nature of the case are out of the question most people will think it would be better merely to enter an emphatic disclaimer and let it go at that.

If he must needs add anything it would be much more satisfying and quieting to the American mind to explain certain recent events which are involved in some obscurity and which have evidently aroused suspicion in the minds of those Americans who are highly sensitive on the subject of European meddling in this hemisphere.

Why was it necessary for Germany and Britain to join in employing force to collect certain small sums of money from Venezuela? Why was it necessary to make a triple alliance of it by joining Italy with them?

How Would One of the Fellows With a Bank Account Like to Be Poor?

You who are well housed, well fed, well clad and in possession of a bank account that banishes from your future all fear of want find this world, with all its drawbacks, not a bad place to live in.

But what would you think of the world if you were a young man with a wife and baby to support and unable to get work, with no coal or food in the house and the thermometer down near zero?

And what would the world seem like to you if you were dying with consumption and your wife went out to work each day to support you and your four children, earning so little, poor thing, that coal could not be bought at trust prices or the rent be paid, so that the landlord had served a dispossession notice on you?

The Rev. Louis Albert Banks, who on Monday night placed where it would do the most good some money with which the American supplied him, found the two families described and others not less near the edge of despair's precipice.

How would you like to be Mrs. Scuterio of 43 Oliver street, where there was no food or fuel? She and her children were starving and freezing when Captain Johnson of the Salvation Army, taking relief from the American, visited this home of want and misery.

How would you like to share the fate of these fellow creatures of yours reported by the same Salvationist?

Mr. and Mrs. Golden of 10 Hamilton street had not eaten yesterday. There was no fuel. Mr. Golden is blind.

Mr. Martin of 608 Water street is lying in bed with consumption. Mrs. Martin's father, who lives with them, is blind, and only a little while ago Mrs. Martin had one of her arms amputated. A big bag of groceries and coal brought happiness to this poor family, and when promised more coal for tomorrow Mrs. Martin fell on her knees and prayed.

"There never were such general suffering and extreme poverty as this winter," said the Rev. Father Tovey in acknowledging money for his poor from the American. "We have children that I know of without shoes and stockings. It is almost impossible to buy clothing, so scanty are the earnings of many. Coal is impossible. They must live in cold rooms."

Thin clothes and ragged clothes, poor food and little of it, and by air to sit and shiver in while you watch your suffering wife and blue lippled, hungry children—that is what life means for thousands these days in this rich and Christian city.

And the people who live this life are fellow beings, human creatures just like yourself, with the same capacity for pleasure and pain, the same love for wife and little ones.

Your instinct is to turn away from such misery and shut your mind against it, not because you are hard hearted, but because the mass of wretchedness is so vast that you feel helpless to do anything adequate toward its relief.

Venezuela than any one of the other three powers, yet she had no great difficulty in coming to terms and arranging for settlement through a mixed commission without resort to force.

What need was there for three powers to unite in using force and instituting a blockade when one power was able to effect a settlement without force?

Why was it necessary to sink Venezuelan gun boats after their capture? That act, committed when the powers were protesting that there was no state of war but only a "peaceful blockade," was not calculated to facilitate the collection of the claims or to make Venezuela any better able to pay.

Why has it been found necessary to the maintenance of a peaceful blockade to bombard forts and land marines? And how has it happened that Germany has invariably appeared as the active and aggressive agent in all this?

Without insinuating a doubt of Baron Von Sternburg's sincerity it may be remarked that an explanation of these things seems to be necessary to dispel suspicion from the minds of many Americans to whom it looks as though Germany might be in the act of leading other European powers in a movement to break down the Monroe doctrine as a practical factor in the affairs of this hemisphere.

It would also help to dispel this painful suspicion if Britain would explain why she, the greatest of naval powers, found it advisable to ally herself with Germany in collecting a petty claim from so weak a country as Venezuela.

Some Americans are beginning to fear that her demonstrative friendship is cooling now that we have helped her rake her South African chestnuts from the fire.

Explanations rather than protestations are what the case seems to require.

But you have no right to turn away from it. It is your duty to think about and do what you can to lessen this mass of misery.

You can open your heart and put your hand in your pocket. When you do that, you feed some hungry child, bring hope again to some agonized mother's breast and save some man from desperation.

When you are face to face with dire human distress, it is no time to philosophize about the failure of charity to cure poverty, or about the pernicious effects of almsgiving.

Help the miserable first and philosophize afterward. Be a human being before you are a political economist. Obey your heart. It is a better, a wiser guide than your head ninety-nine times in a hundred.

Don't even stop to reflect that you can't give a dollar to buy a few buckets of coal or a few pounds of meat for a perishing family without the coal trust and the food trust stealing half the money.

The thing to do is to give while this frightful weather is with us.

Look at the crowds which gather around the American's free coffee and sandwich wagons every night, and you will get a vision of human need that must keep you awake in your warm bed if you haven't done your duty as a man.

Send a bill or a check to the nearest clergyman—never mind the denomination—with a note asking him to use it for the relief of the worst case of poverty he knows, and you will make no mistake.

The poor are your brothers and sisters. Remember the words of Jesus:

"Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me."—New York American.

Uncle Charles—Boggs, how can you associate with that Binks boy? I understand he's the worst scholar in the school.

THRILLING DEEDS ON BATTLESHIP

After Explosion of a Gun on the Massachusetts Lieutenant Hughes and Gunner Kuhlwein Worked on Magazine With Fire Above-Dying Heroes Told Doctors to Help Others

Behind the cold, brief departmental report received at Washington of the fatal accident on the United States steamship Massachusetts off Culebra, Porto Rico, lies a story of heroism seldom equaled in history, says the New York Evening Journal. Nine of the good ship's jacksies, every one of them members of the gun crew, lie in palm sheltered graves as a result of the catastrophe, but around the name of each one is intertwined a wreath of glory that his heroic mates are speaking of today in whispered tones.

The navy department knows that the starboard aft eight inch gun turret of the big battleship was demolished, and in the list of the dead are the names of the nine with few words of perfunctory commendation for bravery.

It is for the living mates of those who with their lives taught the lesson of how to die like men to take up the story and tell it to the world in all its detail of sublime courage. Not alone were the lost ones heroes, but there were others on the boat who, seeking to help their dying comrades and save the ship, rushed into the very jaws of death and only through almost a miracle were spared.

When the turret blew up with a volcanic roar and the nine lay cruelly torn and burned in the little smoke and flame filled deathtrap, Boatswain Mate Soumenan and Lieutenant William C. Cole, at the risk of their lives, entered the hell-like place with a line of hose to help their dying comrades and save the ship, rushed into the very jaws of death and only through almost a miracle were spared.

Captain Harry Lee of the marine corps knew this, and, throwing off his sword, he followed Soumenan and with the strength of a Hercules began to throw out the powder.

Lieutenant Hughes and Gunner Kuhlwein bethought themselves of the magazine below the turret and tore down to the heart of the ship to make it safe.

All this was the work of only a few seconds. Then the agonized cries of the wounded could be heard. One of the dying jacksies, with the last of his strength, jumped into the sea. He was brought back by his uninjured mates and laid on the deck to die with the others.

By this time the awful shock of the explosion no longer affected the boys. It was the gaping wounds, the broken bones and the torturing burns that compelled the groans. And here was where the victims earned their right to fame.

Each of the doomed men knew his death was near, and when the surgeons came to ease their pain each pleaded with them not to waste time on him but to look out for "some of the boys who might live."

And so they died, one after the other, until the nine had gone and all found graves draped in red, white, blue and black. Guns boomed, the sound of "taps" floated over the southern sea, and it was all over except for those who care to treasure instances of the heroic heights mankind may ascend to.

The accident happened while the Massachusetts was off on a target practice trip. There are two eight inch guns in the aft starboard turret, and one of these was being worked by the new undersign, Ward K. Wortman. All along the sides of the ship the big guns belched forth, and then, as the ship swung around, the signal for the fatal shot came.

The gun was fitted with an electric and a percussion primer. In it was a charge of 120 pounds of slow burning powder. Through an error the breech of the gun was left partially open, and the lanyard was pulled, the result being that the full charge of the big gun was thrown back into the turret.

TO SAVE SOULS OF THE RICH

General Booth Hopes to Train Officers to Preach With Millionaires.

General Booth of the Salvation Army was interviewed recently on a statement he made while holding a meeting in the Alvin theater, Pittsburgh, that he was planning to reach the millionaires. He said:

"The Salvation Army has been criticized because its workers are not educated, polished and properly fit to present Christ to the masses. It needs no education nor refinement, but energy is necessary, and the men and women are needed who will reach out for the sinners and will go after them. This is what the Salvationists are doing."

"We have a few among the rich, but that is not far off. Some day there will be officers specially trained to go among the rich, and there will be a time when the Salvation Army will pay some attention to the American millionaire."

Garibaldi—Thousand.

A movement is on foot in Genoa for a superb monument to the "thousand of Marsala," as the men have come to be styled who sailed with Garibaldi on the historical expedition which ended in the downfall of the Sicilian Bourbons, says the Popolo Romano. As a result of action taken by the city government will take official action in support of the scheme. Signor Zauradelli is to bring the matter before the council within a few days.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Magic Handkerchief.

A surprising trick is one performed with a handkerchief and a candle. The performer, taking the handkerchief, asks if it will burn, and the owner answers, naturally enough, that there is no doubt that it will. "Suppose we try," queries the performer, and, taking the handkerchief by two of its corners, he draws it three or four times obliquely across the flame of a lighted candle. The handkerchief is not injured in the slightest. There is really no mystery about this experiment, although to those who have never tried it it appears very surprising, and the spectators are convinced that you have substituted for the borrowed article a handkerchief of your own which has been prepared to resist fire by some chemical process. The performer has only to take care not to allow the handkerchief to rest motionless while in contact with the flame, since the contact in the act of drawing the handkerchief through the flame is so momentary that the cloth is barely warmed in its passage.

Water Tricks.

Take a glass and fill it up to the brim and place it near a pile of pennies or other money. Then see how many pennies can be thrown into the glass without the water overflowing. As the pennies are carefully and slowly dropped in the surface of the liquid will seem to become more and more convex, and one is surprised to what an extent this increases before it overflows.

Take half a glass of water and pour it into a saucer. Crumple a piece of paper in such a way that it will float upon the water and be not larger than will nicely go into a tumbler. Touch a match to it, and when blazing nicely, the fiercer the better, place the tumbler over it mouth downward, and the water in the saucer will at once be drawn up into the tumbler and there remain for some time. The heat forces the air out, producing a vacuum, which draws the water up to replace the exhausted air.

A Considerate Nephew.

Uncle Jim had given my little brother some money to buy Christmas presents with, and about three days before Christmas brother cornered Uncle Jim and, with a great deal of mystery, began to open some small packages which he had in his dress. One he opened for Aunt Carrie, another was for mamma, another for papa and so on for about a dozen parcels. The last one remaining he hesitated over and finally said:

"Uncle Jim, I've got something in this package for you, but I won't show it to you till Christmas."

"All right," was the response. That night about 10 o'clock Uncle Jim was lying on the couch in the library reading, when a small, white robed figure came softly into the room and, leaning over him, whispered in his ear:

"Uncle Jim, if you think you won't sleep for thinking about your present, you wake me and I'll show it to you."

Skilled Little Swimmers.

In Germany a close study is being made of the manner in which various animals swim, and pictures have been made to show how the water rat swims, both when he is at his ease and when an enemy is pursuing him. While he is looking for prey and scents no danger this wily little animal goes through the water leisurely, but the moment he sees or hears an enemy he changes his attitude and darts away, breasting the water at a great rate. Moreover, it is a singular fact that not only water rats, but all other rats and mice which live near the water, are splendid swimmers, and, thanks to their skill, are frequently able to escape from their enemies.

The Boy Wanted to Get Out.

A certain Washington avenue merchant is father to a very bright boy not quite five years old. Several weeks ago the youngster passed through a siege of the mumps. After his recovery prudence compelled his confinement to the house for a few days, but he grew very restive. One day he saw his little companions playing outside, and he put in a plea to join them. He wanted to get some fresh air, he said.

"Then raise the window, dear," said his mother. The window, by the way, was protected by a screen.

"Mother," said the little lad reproachfully, "how much good do you suppose strained air will do a boy like me?"—St. Louis Chronicle.

A Philosophy With Wheels.

"I want a philosophy for my birthday," announced Harold, aged five.

"A philosophy?" exclaimed his mother.

"Yes, don't you know what a philosophy is? It's a thing with wheels, and you jump on an' put your feet on the pedals, and just go a-sizzin'."

EDEN IN NORTH POLE.

Yale Professor Also Holds That Mankeys First Made Fire.

Dr. J. L. Wortman of Yale dug up the skull of a simioid quadruman in a remote corner of Wyoming last fall, and now he has constructed a new paleontology, pyrology and a family tree for the human race that leaves off where Burke's "Peagee" begins, says a New Haven special to the New York World. All these things came out of the simple examination of the bumps and fissures of the skull of the prehistoric ape.

The cosmology which the professor builds from the mysterious skull is briefly as follows:

Not Prometheus, but our ancestor the ape, discovered fire.

Not Eden, but the icy peaks of the north pole, furnished the original parents of the human race.

The professor finds that after the nebulous ether began to solidify the first place the earth was comfortably inhabitable was the north pole, and there the apes, our ancestors, first began to disport themselves. When the icy blasts began to blow, the simians began to migrate to the four corners of the earth, a relentless fate manufacturing a cold that always drove them southward.

This "radiation" the professor deduces from the discovery that the prototype of the skull he found in Wyoming is found in almost every section of the world in corresponding latitudes. He finds that they all must have been of the same family, because they were all buried in the same con—that is, the one the scientists called the cocoon, in the history of this sphere.

Professor Wortman picks out the Mediterranean as the most probable locality in which an Edison arose among the fate driven ancestors and aroused the spark that we have since called fire. They were driven to the shores of the sea, and, being unable to swim, they found themselves between the sea on one hand and freezing cold on the other. Some one among them came to the rescue and invented the fire that has since kept them and their ancestors in comfort in almost any zone.

Dr. Wortman is professor in the department of paleontology in the Peabody museum at Yale and has long held these tenets.

The Parsee.

The Parsee, untrammelled by his surroundings, is seen in Bombay in all his wealth of height and dress. The men are, without exception, tall, finely formed and stately and possess a robustness and beauty quite at contrast with their Hindoo neighbors.

Their street costume is a peculiar long white cotton gown, wide trousers of the same material and color and a tall miter shaped hat. They have a general reputation for sobriety, frugality and sagacity, and they seem to thoroughly understand the accumulation of fortunes, in this respect resembling the Hebrews. The wealthiest residents of Bombay are Parsees.

Where Cobras Are Held to Be Sacred.

The Hindoos on account of their superstition are very loath to destroy a cobra. It appears prominently in their mythology, and it is venerated both as a symbol of a malicious and destructive power and also a beneficent one. According to Mr. A. K. Forbes, cobras are looked upon as guardian angels, and there is a Bengalese tradition that a male infant auspiciously shaded by a cobra will come to the throne.

MILITARY
ARMS FOR SIX THOUSAND MEN OF THE O. N. G.
Unusual Activity in Militia Circles—Officers of the Ohio Guard Meet at Columbus.
Columbus, O., Feb. 4.—There is unusual activity in Ohio National Guard circles here, and while no official information can be obtained it is believed that the department is getting ready for any war emergency that may arise.
Yesterday there was a conference in the office of Adjutant General Gyger, between himself, Assistant Adjutant Taylor, General W. V. McMakin, of Toledo, in command of the First Brigade of the O. N. G., and General John C. Speaks, of this city, in command of the Second Brigade. These military men were anxious to have the public know that they met here to arrange for a National Guard convention which will not be held until April.
That they discussed the matter of arming more than 6,000 soldiers in Ohio is not denied. This meeting, on the eve of the return of Assistant Adjutant General Taylor from Washington, is said to be of great significance. Colonel Taylor went to Washington to present Governor Nash's requisition for 5,800 stand of arms for the Ohio militia, under the provisions of the Dick bill, which recently passed Congress.
Colonel Taylor announces that within a short time the guard will be wholly equipped with modern rifles. The Sixth regiment at Toledo, in General McMakin's brigade, already has the modern Krag-Jorgensen rifle, and that regiment could answer a call to arms in short order.
It is said in the Adjutant General's office that the Ohio Guard could be placed at the front in event of war in a remarkably short space of time.
The guard would be exceptionally equipped, as far as rifles are concerned, but would be short on Gatling and like guns and some outfitment.
Because of the excellent showing made by the Ohio guardsmen during the recent Spanish war, officers of the militia believe that the soldiers of this state would be among the first called upon by the Federal government in the event of any trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Hawk and daughter Jessie, spent Sunday and Monday with Chas. Hawk and family.
Rev. Boyce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Newark, commenced a series of meetings in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. He will be assisted by Rev. Brown of Newark.
Mr. Henry Lovell is suffering from dropsy.
Mr. John Wilson returned from Newark Thursday where he was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Leroy Beoney.
Rev. Thompson has resigned as pastor of the Disciple church and will assist Rev. Updyke in evangelical work.

WHY STAY PALE.
A pity to see pale girls stay pale and dull when it is so easy to get Scott's Emulsion.
One of the best things Scott's Emulsion does is to give rich blood to pale girls.
The result of regular doses of Scott's Emulsion is an increase not only in the red color of the blood and in the appetite but in the good looks and bright manners which are the real charm of perfect health.

BIGGER CAR WORKS BY WHAT RIGHT?
[Original.]
Nellie Blake was a very nice girl. The only trouble with her, a trouble common with most girls whose parents are abundantly able to support them, was that she hadn't enough to do to keep her out of mischief. Having finished her education, there seemed nothing more for her to do but to wait for her affluence and be married. This was not to her taste, and she proposed to her father to study—well, something, anything, so that if she should be left without—
"Nonsense," said the father. "I'll not permit anything of the kind."
Then Nellie considered matrimony. The only man who wanted her, so far as she knew, was Fred Langley. But Fred was too matter of fact. He was a plodder. He had plodded at college, at the law school and was now plodding in his profession. She thought over a number of others, but they all had something about them unsuited to her taste. She gave up the matrimonial problem, but one day, on reading a matrimonial advertisement, just for fun she thought she would advertise for a husband and see what kind of answers one receives in such cases.
Sitting down at the mahogany writing desk in the library, she wrote in a large hand (her own was very delicate) with a stub pen and very black ink a communication in the usual form. Then lest some one should find out that she was so absurdly engaged she took the precaution to carry it to the newspaper office herself.
It would require a large volume to fill in the body of this story, for a correspondence sprang up between Nellie and an unknown gentleman who called himself Alonzo Courtney, Nellie writing as Clarissa Varian, the letters growing in length till near the end an average letter covered twenty-four pages. Nellie had expected to have a good laugh at her replies. She was mistaken. The first was so delicate and deferential that no one but a thoroughbred could have written it. All denoted extreme refinement. Then the original and attractive ideas the man had! And how those ideas appealed to her! It was marvelous that one who had never seen her should have such an insight into her most hidden feelings. His letters became more and more impassioned till at last he begged for a meeting.
Had not Nellie Blake fallen in love with a soul she had seen expressed on paper she would not have granted such an interview. As it was, taking advantage of an evening when her parents would be out, she wrote Mr. Courtney that she would receive him at 8 o'clock. When the hour arrived, she was in the drawing room in her most becoming costume, pink silk, her hair done high and no jewels. The lamps were dimmed with artistic porcelain shades, and she had arranged when her correspondent arrived to be standing with a screen and a large palm for a background. When the doorbell sounded, her heart went up in her throat. Then came the card of Mr. Alonzo Courtney, and while he was getting off his coat and hat in the hall she thought she should faint. The drawing room door was pushed open, and in walked the matter of fact Fred Langley.
To say that Nellie was angry gives no idea of her condition. She was too enraged to say anything for a few moments. Then she hissed:
"Impostor!"
"Is it an imposture for a man to transcribe his inner self in words to one he loves?"
"How did you know that I advertised?"
"One morning, doubtless soon after you wrote your advertisement, I called on you when you were not at home. The maid, who did not know that you were out, showed me into the library and went upstairs to deliver a message from me. While waiting for her return I noticed some large black letters in reverse on the blotter on the desk. I amused myself deciphering what made an excellent puzzle and had nearly finished before it occurred to me that I was reading a secret. For this I must apologize. Will you forgive me?"
"And then?"
"It occurred to me that you had written the duplicate. I wanted to discover under cover what of strength or weakness, good or evil, there might be in you. I watched for your advertisement and answered it."
"Had you a right to do so?"
"No. One has never the right to lie in concealment for a friend. Yet had I not been your friend I should have had a perfect right. A girl who advertises for a husband is open to all the world. Would you deny me the right you had given millions of strangers?"
Nellie winced.
"Nevertheless," he went on, "the indiscretion has brought a revelation to me. I had no idea of the depth of feeling there is in your nature, your noble conceptions and especially your desire to be something more than a drone. Had you not been born to wealth you would have been, may yet be, of great service in a world that needs so much."
He could have said nothing that would have so well pleased her. She turned away to harmonize her conflicting emotions. The Alonzo Courtney she had pictured in her imagination was giving place to the plain Fred Langley. But that being who had been photographed in his letters—there he was waiting for her to speak again.
Without turning she reached her hand backward. Langley sprang forward and took it. She looked for some of the impassioned smiles she had read so often and received into her heart. Instead there was but one word:
"Sweetheart!"
Nevertheless it was the word she wanted. EMERY S. TORRENT.

Jewett Company Has Orders for Many Cars and Will Soon Enlarge the Plant and Put More Men to Work.
Mr. A. H. Sisson, manager of the Jewett Car Works, of this city, left for Boston, Wednesday morning to complete arrangements for awarding to the Jewett Car Works of a contract for the building of a large number of cars. Mr. Sisson, said to the Advocate that the company orders far ahead. He also said that it is the intention of the Company to largely increase the capacity of the works, and that plans had already been made for greatly enlarging the plant; that the iron and machine shop would be made double its present size, and that the wood machine shop would be made one-third larger, while the dry kiln's capacity would be increased one-half. Mr. Sisson said that he was not in position to give all the details of the many improvements that would be made, but that he would say that the working force of the shops would be largely increased.
The enlargement of the Jewett Car Works will mean much for Newark, especially the West End. No other industry in Newark has ever done more for the upbuilding and prosperity of the city than has the Jewett Car Works, and with the increased facilities will be in a position to do still greater good.
The Jewett Car Company, which was brought to Newark by the Board of Trade's work now employs over 350 men. The proposed additions to the plant will mean a further increase in its working force.

INSPECTION
OF COMPANY G BY OFFICERS TUESDAY NIGHT.
Everything Found in First Class Condition—Banquet Followed Inspection at Armory.
Major Arthur Reynolds of Columbus, assisted by Major Elmer Blizzard of this city, inspected Company G, and the Hospital Steward and four privates of the Hospital Corps, of the Fourth regiment, at the Armory Tuesday night. There was an unusually good attendance of the members of the company, and the inspecting officers found the equipment in excellent condition. Lieutenants Lazarus and Bert Jones of Columbus, were also present at the inspection, having accompanied Major Reynolds here. The officers were all exceedingly well pleased with the inspection, and so expressed themselves. After the inspection the members of the company were served with a fine supper in the armory, while the officers were entertained with a banquet at the Hotel Warden by the officers of Co. G. Those who sat down to the banquet were Major Arthur Reynolds and Lieutenants Lazarus and Jones of Columbus, Col. M. M. Gillett, Major Elmer Blizzard, Rev. J. C. Schindler, ex-Chaplain of the Fourth regiment, Captain Charles E. Matthews and Captain C. W. Miller, of the honorary staff of the Fourth Major R. M. Davidson, Captain and Assistant Surgeon Knauss, and Lieutenants Wilson Heisey and George Henry. Captain George Carey Crawford was unable to be present owing to the fact that he is out of the city on two months leave of absence. The banquet was a feast, and was gotten up in the best style of culinary art, consisting of nine courses. The tables were decorated in red and green and presented a very pretty and attractive appearance. It was an occasion that will long be remembered by those who were present.

REGIMENTAL BANQUET.
The officers and ex-officers of the Fourth and Fourteenth regiments will hold their annual banquet Saturday evening, February 21, at the armory in East Town street. Since the organization of the regiment there has been over 300 officers and it is expected that the majority of them will be present. The committee in charge arrangements consists of Major A. W. Reynolds, Captain R. Ross Shaw and Lieutenants Simon Lazarus and Bert G. Jones.—Columbus Press.

Needs a Bath.
Baltimore, Md., Feb. 1.—A letter has come to the health department from a lady living in the fashionable neighborhood of Charles street stating that there was an urgent case for the department at her house.
The health warden hurried to the house. The lady said the case was her husband, whom she wanted the health department to force to take a bath. She declared that he had not had a bath for six months and had not changed his clothes for two months.
The husband then appeared on the scene. He was polite enough, but firmly told the health warden that he had not the slightest idea of taking a bath. Asked whether he was afraid of water he replied in the negative, but said that the only way he likes water is "on the side."
The warden reported to Health Commissioner Bosley, who has placed the matter before the city law officers to advise him if there was any law by which he can forcibly administer a bath to a man who doesn't want one.

In winter time many people do not get the proper exercise necessary to promote good health.
The blood becomes thick, circulation slow; eliminating organs inactive; the system retains for longer time excretive matter, and disease naturally ensues. It may develop in indigestion, fevers, mal-assimilation, rheumatism, general debility, nervousness, coughs, colds, bronchitis. For these conditions Hagee's Cordial of Cod Liver Oil with Hagee's is unequalled. It's a revitalizer, purifier and reconstructor—contains all the active principles of cod liver oil, without the nauseating grease, fishy odor, or unpleasant taste. Pleasant to take. A fine tonic food for puny children.

DEEDED

Property "Worth Millions" and Cash to His Wife, but the Bankers Call Him an Imposter.

Coshocton, O. Feb. 4.—The police of this city are on the lookout for Charles Porter of Denver, Colo., who represented himself to be a multimillionaire.

Porter came here a week or so ago and was united in marriage to Mrs. Carrie Powelson a rich widow. On the day of the wedding Porter decided to her in due form property said to be located in various parts of the United States. The value of the property was represented to be $1,000,000. He also turned over to her $500,000 said to be on deposit at the First National bank of Denver.

Porter traveled a rapid gait during the few days he was in this city, and while waiting for $20,000 from his bankers on which to make a wedding journey to his Florida estates, borrowed $200 of his bride.

Word from the Denver bank declared him an imposter and he admitted his guilt to his bride. He has disappeared with her late husband's watch and other valuables.

Porter advertised for a wife in a newspaper and Mrs. Powelson answered. Porter came here on January 15, and a few days later the marriage took place. Porter is described as being a handsome fellow, six feet tall and weighing about 200 pounds. He had been living at the home of his bride here.

Horse Ran Away.

This morning about 7 o'clock as a young boy named Mariette, a new driver for Metz Bros., meat dealers, was delivering meat on Church street one of the wheels of the wagon came off frightening the horse and causing him to run away. He ran diagonally across the street and struck the corner at Fifth street, turning the wagon over with the boy under it. The boy pluckily held onto the horse and finally succeeded in quieting him down without any further damage being done. The boy was only slightly injured.

VALUE OF TELEPATHY.

In Thought Transfer Dr. Parkhurst Sees Marconi's Master.

AMAZING PROPOSITIONS ADVANCED

We Will Soon Beat the Famous Inventor by Thinking Across the Atlantic, Says the Presbyterian Minister—Persons Can Now Transfer Thought a Short Distance, He Declares.

"Mental telepathy is now a demonstrable fact. Thought can be transferred for a short distance by certain individuals, and soon we will do away with telephone, telegraph and cable lines, and even the sending and receiving stations by which Marconi is working wonders will be relegated to the junk pile."

Thus spoke Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst at his home the other day to a reporter of the New York American.

When asked to explain, he said: "Years ago, when we had a thought we wanted to convey to a friend in Europe, we put it on board a steamer. Subsequently, thanks to the patient cleverness of a former member of our church, a fine electric line was substituted for the steamer. And now Marconi is thinking across the ocean from South Wellfleet, in Massachusetts, to County Cornwall, in England, by the aid of a medium a million times finer than even wire."

"By and by we shall probably be able to think across the water without going to the trouble and expense of setting up apparatus at even the shore ends of the route."

"Do I believe in mental telegraphy?" repeated Dr. Parkhurst in answer to an inquiry. "Yes, firmly. Why not?"

"Evidences of the existence of mental telegraphy are so common and so thoroughly authenticated as to cause me to regard it as a demonstrated fact. There can be no possible doubt that two persons or even a greater number may communicate thoughts to each other without any material medium of communication."

"Two men in the same room may communicate their thoughts to each other by telepathy. This much is known. In well-known instances greater distances have been covered. The very fact that a thought may be communicated from one brain to another without material connection is the striking fact that we have to consider. From that all other things may grow and develop."

"Now we think across short spaces, from brain to brain, without wires or operating stations. This is the great fact. From that must be developed, gradually and slowly as these other great inventions have been developed, the lengthening of the distance over which two brains may communicate their thoughts to each other by mental telegraphy."

"There has been more thought devoted to this strange phenomenon of mental telegraphy during the past ten years than in all the ages that preceded. Great thinkers, men of strong brains, are attempting to learn the secret of telepathy, to find the scientific basis of this phenomenon. That they will succeed eventually there is but little doubt."

"When we have learned all that there is to learn, we may prepare to throw away the useless instruments of steel and wire that have served us so long and communicate from brain to brain through the invisible ether with nothing of clumsy apparatus, sending a thought to a friend direct from the brain much more easily and quickly than can possibly be done by the world old medium of words."

"I have had brought to my attention so many instances of the actual exercise of telepathy that it is hard to select any single case as illustrative. Telepathy exists and is a fact. Its development is a thing of the future. How long we shall have to wait is as yet vague surmise."

WOMEN CUSTOM OFFICERS.

Many Advance Various Plans to Get Position to Board Ships.

Thus far the commissioner of immigration has received 150 personal applications from women of all kinds and conditions for the positions of boarding officers, says a New York dispatch to the Philadelphia Press. The women want to climb ship ladders and examine second cabin and saloon passengers as to their destinations, friends and intentions.

The applications range in age from the early twenties to women with snow white locks. All had various plans to advance in their favor. One woman advanced to Mr. Robinson and Mr. Knapp on the island as her special qualification that she had been a trapeze performer and was not afraid to climb any ladder. Another woman had been for fifteen years a ship's stewardess and had traveled all over the world.

Novel Treatment for Kleptomania. London Truth tells of a delightful method of dealing summarily with female kleptomania of gentle birth which is followed by certain well-kept shops in London. Every woman detected in the act of pilfering is given the option of being prosecuted in court or being hired by the managers as a person specially selected for her thieving. The birth is formidable one. "In one shop alone," says Truth, "seventy women have attended the ordeal of birthing, in addition to two young girls of a foreign nationality who in consideration for their tender years were treated to a milder form of childbirth."

MISS FAY LEE,

President of the Shakespearean Club, Kansas City.

Miss Fay Lee.

"Your booklet came to my home like a message of health when I had suffered with headache, backache and bearing-down pains. I was weak, nervous and hysterical and had not consulted any doctor, thinking it would pass away in time, but instead I found that the pains increased and were more frequent. I decided to try Wine of Cardui and in a short time was much improved. It seemed to act like a charm. I kept up the treatment and the result was most satisfactory. Words fail to express my gratitude for the suffering that is now saved me. I am in fine health, physically and mentally. I can only say 'thank you,' but there is much more in my heart for you."

BEARING-DOWN pains are the worst that women know. If you are suffering from this trouble you need not be uncertain about it. The pains in the abdomen and back that feel as if heavy weights were pulling down on the nerves of the stomach are "bearing-down pains". They may not be particularly severe at present but they are growing worse. That headache which nearly drives you distracted now is caused by the terrible nervous tension. The nerves soon begin to give way under the strain. You perhaps jump at any unusual disturbance, or laugh or weep, hysterically, at no apparent cause. That is what Miss Fay Lee, 603 1/2 North Seventh Street, Kansas City, Kansas, was coming to when she rescued herself by taking Wine of Cardui. The Wine made her a strong, healthy woman again, as it has made a million other women strong and healthy. By inducing regular menstruation the entire system is relieved of the terrible wasting drains. The ligaments which hold the womb in place are strengthened by a healthy flow and that organ is returned to its normal position. Returning health is the result. This is what Wine of Cardui has done for thousands of the best women in America.

If you need advice write The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn., describing all your symptoms freely, and a letter of advice will be sent you. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist to-day.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SPRING LOCK

Caught the Policeman Inside the Building and Held Him Prisoner for a While.

Officer James Callen, the good natured Hibernian patrolman, had a novel experience Monday night. He was engaged in his duty of trying the doors of business places around the square, and in doing this he found the door to Metz's meat shop open. He went in to investigate and the door was pushed shut, the spring lock catching. The efforts of Callen to open the door for a long time proved futile, but finally by instructions from the outside he released himself from his involuntary prison.

WALTER BALL IN COLUMBUS.

In spite of the driving rain a large number went to the Board of Trade auditorium last evening to attend the monthly entertainment, which was given by J. B. Francis MacDowell, pianist, and Walter Bently Ball, baritone.

The pianist gave a wide range of numbers, including besides Beethoven, Bach, Liszt and Chopin, a group of popular numbers, which seemed to please the audience more than the classical ones.

Mr. Ball's songs were delightfully given and tastefully accompanied by Miss Emma Ebeling.—Today's State Journal.

WILL HOLD BANQUET ON NEXT WEDNESDAY

At Meeting of Licking Bar Association Wednesday Morning a Committee Was Appointed.

At a meeting of the Licking County Bar Association held on Wednesday morning in the Court room just before the jury was called in for the trial of cases, Judge E. M. P. Brister moved that the Licking County Bar Association hold its annual banquet in accordance with its resolution of a year ago, and that the President of the Association, Col. Charles H. Kibler, appoint the speakers for the occasion, and that a committee of two be appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the banquet proper, which will be held on next Wednesday evening, February 11.

On suggestion of Judge Seward a committee of invitation was added to the motion, to invite the presiding judges of the district.

President Kibler then appointed Attorneys T. B. Fulton and C. W. Miller as the committee of two to make all the necessary arrangements for the banquet.

The banquet will be held as above stated, on next Wednesday evening, February 11. The place and price of tickets to be announced hereafter. Every Licking county attorney is expected to be present, and the occasion will be one of rare social gastronomic and literary enjoyment.

Heavy Wind Storm.

During the severe wind Wednesday a barn belonging to Mr. Dennis Orr, of the West Newark Fire department, was blown about two feet off its foundation. Fortunately there was no stock in the barn at the time and the only thing that was damaged was a surrey, which was slightly broken.

The great west and northwest are in the throes of the worst blizzard of the season.

RULERS OF THE WORLD

Meat Eating Nations Are the Leaders in Every Branch of Human Achievement.

The ruling nations of the world are meat eaters and history records that they always have been.

Vegetarians and food cranks may explain this in any way they choose, but the facts remain that the Americans, English, French, Russians and Germans are meat eating nations, and they are also the most energetic and most progressive.

The principal food of the heroic Boer soldier known as Biltong, is a sort of dried beef, affording a great deal of nourishment in a highly concentrated form.

The weak races of people are the rice eating Chinese, Hindoos, and Siamese, regarded since the dawn of history as non-progressive, superstitious and inferior physically and mentally to the meat eating nations who dominate them.

The structure of the teeth plainly indicates that human beings should subsist upon a variety of food, meat, fruit and grains, and it is unhygienic to confine one's diet to any one of those classes to the exclusion of another.

Meat is the most concentrated and most easily digested of foods, but our manner of living is often so unnatural that the digestive organs refuse to properly digest meat, eggs and similar nutritious and wholesome food, but it is not because such food is unwholesome, but the real reason is that the stomach lacks, from disease or weakness, some necessary digestive element; hence arising indigestion and later on, chronic dyspepsia.

Nervous people should eat plenty of meat, convalescents should eat meat, the principal food, hard working people have to do so and brain workers and office men should eat, not so much meat but at least once a day and to insure its perfect digestion one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should be taken after each meal, because they supply the peptone, diastase and fruit acids, lacking in every case of stomach trouble.

Nervous dyspepsia, calarrh of stomach, gastritis, sour stomach, gas and acidity are only different names for indigestion, the failure to digest wholesome food, and the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets cures them all because by affording perfect digestion the stomach has a chance to rest and recover its natural tone and vigor.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the real household medicine, it is as safe and pleasant for the stomach as the digestion of its grand rice.

They are not a cathartic, but a digestive and no ill habit can ever follow their use; the only habit Stuart's Tablets induce is the habit of good digestion and consequently good health.

representative to send the case to The Hague is not sufficient to effect that, inasmuch as conditions precedent must be met. It is now learned that this obstacle no longer exists. Mr. Bowen is prepared to pay down immediately the small amount of cash indemnity on account of personal insults sustained that the allies are now willing to accept, as sufficient to inaugurate arbitration at The Hague.

THREATEN TO SHELL FORT.

Caracas, Feb. 4.—The blockaders have notified the La Quayra authorities that if they see Venezuelan soldiers in town they will shell the fort.

ENGLISH CABINET.

London, Feb. 4.—The English cabinet will meet Feb. 6 to discuss the Venezuelan affair.

BAKE SHOPS CLOSED.

Caracas, Feb. 4.—All bakers' shops here are closed. The supply of flour has been totally exhausted.

HURRY ORDERS ISSUED.

New York, Feb. 4.—Navy yard officials have orders to have the cruiser Brooklyn finished not later than June 1, and that all other work must be hastened. This means the Brooklyn must be done six months ahead of time.

MEXICO IN LINE.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Mexico has notified Minister Bowen that that republic proposes to urge her claim of $90,000 against Venezuela. This puts Mexico in line with the non-allied powers who are resisting the preferred payment principle.

Popular Saturday Night.

SUITORS

Hired Detectives to Follow THE GIRL

And Fiance But a Magistrate Was Smuggled into the hotel and a Wedding Followed.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 4.—Love's sweet romance, extending over a period of seven years and resulting in a runaway marriage despite the keen vigilance of two private detectives who had been commissioned by rival suitors to prevent it if possible, was victorious in this city last night when Madeline Le Bouef of Cleveland, Ohio, and Floyd E. Francis, of New York, were married at the Leland Hotel.

The bride is the 22 year old daughter of Prosper Le Bouef, a retired merchant of Cleveland, and the groom is the Southern agent and traveling salesman for the American Grass Twine Company, of New York, of which his uncle and other relatives are large stockholders.

Their first meeting was when they were students together at Oberlin College, Ohio, and since leaving the school they have kept track of each other by correspondence. In the meantime numerous suitors appeared, and one of them said to be a young millionaire of Cleveland, became so persistent that to escape him the young couple met by appointment in Louisville last Saturday, where it was proposed they should be married.

The young lady soon discovered that her movements were shadowed and the two secretly boarded a train for this city, arriving here Monday. Yesterday it was discovered that the detectives were again on her track, and Miss Le Bouef never left the hotel. The groom obtained a marriage license, found a magistrate to tie the nuptial knot and taking him to the room occupied by the bride-to-be at the hotel the ceremony was performed.

Friends relatives and rejected suitors were all notified by wire of the marriage. Mr. Francis stated that the cause of their secret marriage was not through any parental objections, but to save his bride the annoyance of being followed. The bride is a strikingly handsome woman of the brunette type while her husband is of an athletic build and commanding appearance.

GEO. F. BOWERS

Returns from Trip to West—He Had Some Thrilling Experiences on Long Trip.

George F. Bowers of the firm of Bowers & Bradley, has returned from a month's trip during which he confined business with pleasure, and experienced several exciting episodes not noted on his itinerary.

Mr. Bowers' original object was to go to the mines of the Six Eagles Mining company, in Washington State, and investigate the condition of the property as a representative of the stockholders, many of whom are Newark people.

This he did, and will make a report to the head office, the nature of which he does not now wish to make public, although he stated that things were satisfactory. The stockholders will hear of Mr. Bowers' report from the head offices at Wooster.

After leaving the mines Mr. Bowers went to Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Oregon, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Cal., Austin, and Beaumont, Texas, New Orleans, and then back to Newark, the distance traveled being over 8,000 miles. The trip, although made in a comparatively short time, was enjoyable, and a slight cold and accompanying hoarseness is all the inconvenience suffered.

At one time, Mr. Bowers' train was caught between two washouts, in a cloudburst in Oregon, the passengers being forced to remain without food for three days and two nights. When they finally were able to proceed the train plowed through water to such a depth that the fires under the locomotive boilers were extinguished. Stage and horseback journeys were also features of his trip which, to say the least, he did not enjoy in the winter climate of the State of Washington.
